Skin Tag Removal

Skin tags are viral in nature and whilst not infectious they do seem to spread on certain individuals. Skin tags are commonly found in areas of friction, for example around the neck, under the arms, on the chest, back, under the breast or in the groin area. They can catch and be very annoying. We use ACP (Advanced Cosmetic Procedures) to safely remove skin tags.

VET COLUMN

Hot tips to keep your pet cool this summer

- Make sure your pet has unlimited access to fresh water
- Try to walk your dog in the cooler parts of the day, this avoids hot temperatures and also stops hot road surfaces burning paws
- Make sure your dog always has access to shade when outside
- Ask your vet about special pet sun creams to apply to the tips of the nose and ears, especially if your pet has white fur
- Take long haired dogs to the groomers to get their fur clipped shorter for summer
- Never ever leave your pet unattended in a car – not even just for a short while with the windows open. Temperatures can soar within minutes, causing heatstroke which can be fatal. If you find a dog trapped in a hot car showing signs of heatstroke, please call 999 and speak to the police for advice.

Health tips for warm weather emergencies:

- Heatstroke – occurs if dogs get too hot and are unable to reduce their body temperature enough by panting. It is most likely to happen in short nosed breeds such as Pugs and Bulldogs, and in dogs with a thick coat. Signs include excessive panting, increased respiratory rate, drooling, lethargy, vomiting and diarrhoea. If this occurs, seek veterinary advice immediately. First aid treatment involves moving the dog to a shaded area, dousing them with cool water and if possible, covering with wet towels on the way to the vets.
- Insect bites/stings – fairly common in summer, especially in dogs and cats who like to chase bees and wasps! Most of the time this does not cause a serious problem – just a little discomfort at the time which normally settles. However, animals can occasionally have an allergic reaction to the sting, leading to anaphylactic shock. Please phone your vets urgently if you notice any breathing problems, pale gums or facial swelling, or if your pet is stung on their mouth or throat.
